“It was terrific, and I learned so much hands on about private equity. I even [interlaced] a language school in Barcelona as part of the Huntsman grant.”

“I studied in Paris for a month to try to learn French as my 4th language. I also created a small fashion brand in my freshman year, so I spent a lot of time focusing on that last summer.”

“I worked for CAIINCOS’s economic department called CEBEC (The Bolivian Center for Economic Studies) conducting research of smuggling the country and its economic impact in various industries. Additionally, I studied the economic influence of government subsidies and replicated Bolivia’s CPI to simulate the impact of the change in the reactive CPI adjusted to inflation.”
